

LOTTERY FUNDS HELPED AN OREGON BUSINESS RECLAIM OIL FROM DISCARDED AGRICULTURAL PLASTICS.

In a recycling facility right here in Oregon, in the little town of Brooks, a recycling company called Agri-Plas Inc. is deploying a process that converts waste plastic into fuel. While much plastic can be recycled, a large percentage of it cannot and is destined for landfills.

But through a brilliant but relatively simple process, they're able to convert plastic back into the stuff that it came from. Oil.

Finding new life for things that would have otherwise been thrown away. Their growth and expansion, and the addition of sustainable, productive jobs to the area is due in part to funding from the Oregon Lottery®. Where every year, a large portion of our profits go directly to helping businesses like this prosper and grow.
