

WORKING TO KEEP OREGON WORKING.

Lottery funding supports jobs and economic development across the state.

How do we restart Oregon's economy? Lottery funds are working around the state to preserve existing jobs, create new jobs and train a workforce ready to compete with the world's best. | In Gresham, Lottery funding helped bring a semiconductor plant back to life, keeping 400 people working and 400 families contributing to the local economy. | When a fire destroyed a Sutherlin plywood plant, Lottery funding helped the owners rebuild on the same site, putting 70 people back on the job. | We're also setting the stage for future employment.

In Eugene, Lottery profits backed construction bonds for the new Lorry I. Lokey Laboratory, one of the most advanced nanotechnology research labs in America. | These are just a few examples of how we're supporting Oregon's economy during these challenging times. In fact, Lottery profits have contributed over $1.8 billion to state economic development and job creation since 1985. | For Oregon workers and employers, the Oregon Lottery does good things.
